

Christopher Burgon

Consultant Solicitor

Litigation

Christopher.burgon@saunders.co.uk

Christopher was educated at Queen Elizabeth's Grammar School Wakefield and studied History at the University of Hull and Law at Leeds Metropolitan University.

Since qualifying as a solicitor in February 2000 Christopher has practised exclusively in London, specialising in litigation.

An expert in commercial litigation, he has experience of working with a wide variety of clients, including entrepreneurs, company directors and partnerships, charities, housing associations and local authorities. Christopher regularly advises on complex litigation including professional negligence, insolvency issues, partnership and shareholder disputes and property disputes.

Christopher is an accomplished guitar player. He enjoys swimming and walking and is currently learning to speak Spanish.